To Whom It May Concern

Balandra Dyanel Lancea Estillore interned at our company for four months, and during her time here, she proved to be a hardworking and dependable team member. She consistently demonstrated a strong willingness to learn and took initiative in every task assigned to her.

Among her contributions, she added valuable content to our IoT course programme, developed an engaging Minecraft Education escape room for students, and stepped up to teach classes both as the main teacher and as an assistant trainer—even in situations where she had limited prior experience. Her adaptability, positive attitude, and dedication to doing her best in all tasks made her a pleasure to work with.

Having supervised Lancea throughout her internship, I witnessed her grow in confidence, skill, and professionalism. She took feedback constructively, collaborated well with colleagues, and showed a level of maturity beyond her years.

Lancea has great potential, and I'm confident she will continue to grow and excel in her future endeavours.

Yours sincerely,
